Next Steps on Licensure Pathways

by Mary-Margaret Zindren, EVP/Executive Director

In bringing you all up to speed on where we are and where we are going related to alternative/equivalent paths to licensure, I'd like to start with gratitude.

Thank you to every member who shared opinions, insights, and experiences related to licensure over the past two years that we have been looking at this issue. The thoughts you shared substantially influenced the work of the task force that researched and put forward recommendations in Fall 2023, and the policy position that was adopted by the AIA MN Board of Directors in December 2023.

With this foundational policy set, we are now embarking on a new effort – one that will seek to engage many more members in shaping a more detailed policy position to bring forward to the Minnesota Board of AELSLAGID.

A reconstituted task force has been formed – larger and with greater representation from firm leaders and members outside the Twin Cities metro – which will be chaired by AIA Minnesota Past President Ann Voda, AIA, president and principal owner of Bentz/Thompson/Rietow, Inc.

The Licensure Pathways Task Force will conduct its work from now through the end of 2025, at which time the AIA Minnesota Board of Directors would anticipate making recommendations to the licensing board – it is the licensing board that will ultimately determine whether any change to licensing rules is made.

The Licensure Pathways Task Force will meet regularly starting this summer. They will work through the research gathered and analyzed to date and build upon it. Key to this research is member perspectives – including YOUR perspective. They will be conducting a survey and creating opportunities to weigh in during the AIA MN Conference on Architecture. There will likely be more Town Halls and other meetings as well. Our goal is to make sure that everyone is aware of, and ideally takes advantage of, multiple opportunities to make their voice heard

So will you help us dig into this important issue? Watch for announcements of engagement opportunities in your email, here in Matrix, on our website, and at AIA Minnesota events. And you can always ask me, members of the AIA Minnesota Board of Directors, or Sheri Hansen any questions – we’re always happy to hear from you!

Legislative Session Ends Without Bonding Bill

The 2024 legislative session wrapped on May 19 with political fireworks and without a capital investment bill. Caucus and inter-party politics delayed much of the work on policy bills, and the clock ran out before a bonding bill could be negotiated. Several key measures did pass this session, including the acceleration of the residential energy code review cycle to match that of the commercial energy code. Questions about the 2024 session, or what's ahead? Contact Sheri Hansen.

LEADERSHIP FORUM

The morning of the May Leadership Forum was a panel of four professionals who shared their leadership stories with a loose focus on when they led and succeeded; when they led and failed; and when they chose not to lead. The panel included (clockwise from top left) Trevor Bullen, AIA, NOMA; Donna Harris, Ed.D.; Angela Wolf Scott, AIA; and Anthony Taylor. The speakers shared lessons learned and what was important to them in order to be an effective leader. Our thanks to each of them for their time and for sharing their personal leadership experiences.

The afternoon of this session was led by half of the cohort and was spent reviewing key themes from the book Dare to Lead by Brené Brown. Exercises and group discussions focused on vulnerability, personal armor, shame, and empathy and how they relate to daring leadership.

Many thanks to Steven Wolf, AIA, and Stephanie Howe, AIA; and to Cuningham for the use of their space, and assistance from Elizabeth Foster, CDFA.
